Buildings require less electrical heating than those in more remote places due to typically higher temperatures in urban areas and buildings which lock those temperatures in. (Para. 3)

此句中due to结构将句子分成前后两部分。前半句中more remote places等同于rural areas。后半句中说明了为什么城市建筑比农村地区的建筑需要的电力供热更少，即城市温度通常更高、城市的建筑锁温蓄热。

As no country has ever reached middle or high income status without urbanization, it is evident that urbanization must be encouraged to allow developing countries the opportunity to derive the same benefits as developed countries, i.e. an improved standard of living. (Para. 5)

此句为主从复合句。As引导原因状语从句，其中用了双重否定（no ... without ...）表肯定，相当于for every country that has reached middle or high income status, they have made it with urbanization。 在主句中，it为形式主语，真正主语为that引导的从句；allow后面接双宾语，即developing countries和the opportunity；动词不定式to derive the same benefits as developed countries作后置定语，补充说明the opportunity；an improved standard of living呼应benefits。

Social mobility will increase for all; something that no one can deny is a desirable goal. (Para. 5)

此句句式较为特殊。分号连接两个逻辑关系紧密的分句，something指代分号前的分句。分号后的分句中，that no one can deny是其定语从句，修饰something。整句话可理解为：Social mobility will increase for all. This is a desirable goal. No one can deny it.
